IMPORTANT PLEASE READ CAREFULLY BEFORE USING YOUR SKYPRO™ DEVICE

This Product Information Guide contains important safety, handling, and warranty information, as well as software license information, for your SkyPro™ device. Please read carefully before using your SkyPro™ device.

Important Safety and Handling Information

WARNING: Failure to follow these safety instructions could result in fire, electric shock, or other personal injury and/or damage to your SkyPro™ device or other property.

Carrying and Handling your SkyPro device

Your SkyPro device contains sensitive components. Do not disassemble, open, crush, puncture, shred, microwave, incinerate, or insert foreign objects into your SkyPro device or your SkyPro device charging case.

Avoiding Water and Wet Locations

Exposure to water may cause damage to your SkyPro device. Do not use your SkyPro device in rain or other wet locations. Take care not to spill any food or liquid on your SkyPro device. In case your SkyPro device gets wet, remove your SkyPro device from its charging case and allow it to dry thoroughly before attempting to use or charge it again. Do not attempt to dry your SkyPro device with an external heat source, such as a microwave oven or hair dryer. SkyPro devices that have been damaged as a result of exposure to liquids are not serviceable.

Repairing or Modifying your SkyPro device

Never attempt to repair or modify your SkyPro device yourself. Disassembling your SkyPro device will void the warranty. Your SkyPro device does not contain any user- serviceable parts, except for the lower clamp slide out. Service should only be provided by a SkyGolf Authorized Service Provider. If your SkyPro device has been punctured, or subjected to a severe fall, do not use it until you contact an Authorized Service Provider. For service information, go to www.golfskypro.com/service.

Battery Replacement

The rechargeable battery in your SkyPro device should be replaced only by a SkyGolf Authorized Service Provider. For more information about battery replacement services, go to: www.golfskypro.com/battery

Charging your SkyPro device

In charging your SkyPro device, use only the supplied SkyPro charging case in conjunction with the supplied SkyPro Micro-USB to USB cable connected to a high-power USB port on another device that is compliant with the USB 2.0 standard or a 5W USB Power Adapter or accessory specifically designed to work with your SkyPro device.

Read all safety instructions for any products and accessories before using your SkyPro device. SkyGolf is not responsible for the operation of third-party accessories or their compliance with safety and regulatory standards.

When you use a 5W USB Power Adapter to charge your SkyPro device, make sure that the power adapter is fully assembled before you plug it into a power outlet. Then insert the 5W USB Power Adapter into the power outlet. Do not connect or disconnect the 5W USB Power Adapter with wet hands.

The 5W USB Power Adapter may become warm during normal use, however your SkyPro device or your SkyPro device charging case should never become hot. Always allow adequate ventilation around the 5W USB Power Adapter and use care when handling. Unplug both the 5W USB Power Adapter and your SkyPro device charging case if any of the following conditions exist:

- The power cord or plug has become frayed or damaged.
- The adapter is exposed to rain, liquid, or excessive moisture.
- The adapter case or charging case has become damaged.
- You suspect the adapter or charging case needs service or repair.

Choking Hazards

SkyPro contains small parts, which may present a choking hazard to small children. Keep SkyPro and its accessories away from children.

Repetitive Motion

When you perform repetitive activity such as swinging a golf club, you may experience occasional discomfort or fatigue. Take frequent breaks while using your SkyPro device if you experience discomfort and do not resume your golf activity until the discomfort disappears. If the discomfort does not disappear, consult a physician.

Attaching Your SkyPro Device

Your SkyPro device should be attached to your golf club shaft just below the base of the grip, without touching the grip. Your SkyPro device should be securely tightened around the golf shaft to avoid sudden and unexpected detachment. Your SkyPro device should be hand tightened only. You should never use tools to tighten your SkyPro device.

Using Connectors and Ports

Never force a connector into a port on your SkyPro device or your SkyPro device charging case. Check for obstructions on the port. If the connector and port do not join with reasonable ease, make sure that the connector and port are properly aligned before attempting to insert again.

Keeping Your SkyPro Device Within Acceptable Temperatures

Operate your SkyPro device in a place where the temperature is between 0° and 35° C (32° to 95° F). Low or high temperature conditions might shorten battery life or cause your SkyPro device to capture and report skewed data or temporarily stop working properly. Avoid dramatic changes in temperature or humidity when using your SkyPro device, as condensation may form within the sensitive components of your SkyPro device. Store your SkyPro device in a cool dry place at room temperature.

Exposure to Radio Frequency Energy

Your SkyPro device contains radio transmitters and receivers, much like cell phones, pagers and other similar devices. When on, your SkyPro device sends and receives radio frequency (RF) energy through its antenna.

Your SkyPro device has been tested and meets the SAR exposure requirements for Bluetooth operation. Your SkyPro device is designed and manufactured to comply with the limits for exposure to RF energy set by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) of the United States, Industry Canada (IC) of Canada, and regulating entities of Japan, the European Union, and other countries. Your SkyPro device has been tested and meets the FCC, IC, and European Union RF exposure guidelines for wireless operation.
